

EL PASO HERALD

STOCK MARKET
DEALINGS LIGHT

Most Transactions Are in Small Lots; Tone of Early Trading is Heavy.

New York, March 27.—What hardened in winter, though, is the striking of the Russell, Brynmill, provides further loss at the heavy tone of today's early trading. The market was quiet, however, and closed lower, with May at $1,160, July at $1,155, and October at $1,150, all in advance of the opening of the New York Stock Exchange on May 1 at $1,162.

Corn rallied with wheat, strong demand due to stratospheric prices. After opening it's to be up to the sky, the market being now 10 cents higher.

The market made no movement during the last hour, and closed strong.

Other grains, dominated by the action of wheat, were quiet, though, with the market showing no movement at the close.

Higher prices have caused apprehension among producers of both grain and cotton.

Grain and Provisions.

Chicago Grains, Close.

Wheat—May, $1,165; July, $1,175.

Corn—May, $1,160; July, $1,175.

Oats—May, $1,160; July, $1,175.

Barley—May, $1,160; July, $1,175.

Buckwheat—May, $1,160; July, $1,175.

Flaxseed—May, $1,160; July, $1,175.

Mustard—May, $1,160; July, $1,175.

Linseed—May, $1,160; July, $1,175.

Canola—May, $1,160; July, $1,175.

Flaxseed—May, $1,160; July, $1,175.